

THE LIVINGSTON LEGACY

This is the moment –solemn, yet also happily of the man, Bill Livingston whose legacy and life we wish to recall as he makes his journey to another place.

We thank Forrest and Billie Gump for their hospitality.....and, the number of people here suggests there will be a reading of the Will. Sorry...

Next to his family, Connie and the Children I would think one Bill would like to join again, Paul, Bear, Bryant of Alabama fame as player and Coach of the Crimson Tide. Bryant born in 1913, were he alive today would be 3 years older than Bill.

Bill's legacy touched on much history from a suggestion of the famous Scottish missionary, David Livingstone who sought the watershed of central Africa, and the source of the Nile. He didn't solve this question and Stanley found him in Ujiji, before he died in Chitambo, now Zambia....and the many Livingstons: Robert, then Phillip (signer of the Declaration of Independence); William, first Gov of New Jersey, then Robert a Supreme Court Justice.....(son Bill traced all of this in tracing the family tree).

I've been working on the railroad all the lib long day, a lifetime of hard work and commitment.

This was a good man, a loving man and a credit to His country, who loved his dear wife, Connie and his children with all of his heart and soul, May God be with him. We remember you Bill and love you.
